

ABSTRACT

The present invention provides an apparatus for completing and producing from multiple mineral production zones, independently and in several combinations. This is made possible only through the use of pressure-actuated circulating (PAC) valves and pressure-actuated device
5 (PAD) valves in combination with isolation valves. Also disclosed are methods of completing and producing from multiple mineral zones.